THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

DR. LIVINGSTONE.

OFFICIAL ACCOUNT OF HIS DEATH.

The following official account of the death of Dr. Livingstone has been received by the State Department at Washington:

CONSULATE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
ISLAND OF ZANZIBAR, Dec. 9, 1866.

SIR.—It becomes my painful duty to report the death of Dr. Livingstone, the celebrated African explorer, who, as I wrote under date of May 9, 1866, left here on the 9th of March last for the exploration of the river Rovauma, and that region between the great lakes of Central Africa, of which, as yet, but little is known.

The sad intelligence was received here on the 5th inst., by the arrival of several native members of the expedition, from whom but little of importance could be elicited save the fact of Dr. Livingstone's death.

I am indebted to Dr. Kirk, H. B. M. Vice Consul, and formerly a member of the Livingstone Zambesi expedition, for the following particulars of this sad event; and, as his accompanying remarks may prove interesting, I cannot do better than to give them in his own words:

"The return of several of the Johanna men, who accompanied Dr. Livingstone, has made it certain that that distinguished traveller has fallen, and with him half of his native followers. * * * His present expedition may be briefly stated to have been to unite the magnificent discoveries of late years, and determine the limits and connections of the three great lakes, which reach from 14 degrees South, to 2 degrees North latitude, and flowing to the sea by the Zambesi and Nile at the two extremities, but with an intermediate space as yet unknown. Such was the geographical problem. But Dr. Livingstone had in view to affect the present enormous East African slave trade, though pioneering the way which might lead to lawful commerce.

"To have consolidated in one the successive discoveries achieved by himself on the 'Nyassa,' Burton on the 'Sanganyika,' Speke and Grant on the 'Victoria,' and Baker on the 'Albert Nyanza,' would have been a fitting triumph for one who was the first to cross the African continent within the tropical zone, but these hopes have been wrecked by his untimely death. * * *

"We last heard of Dr. Livingstone at 'N'londe,' at the confluence of the Novuma and Niende. Here he met with kindness, but found the land desolated by the slave-traders supplying the market of Zanzibar.—We have information that he proceeded further west to Mataka, a Mino chief, who gave presents of cattle and food. At this point the Indian Sepoys remained behind and have since returned to Zanzibar. From Mataka to Alake was eight days' march. On crossing a wide water in Canves, they followed the border of the lake for several days, and thus struck inland. They were suddenly attacked in a bush country, about 9 A. M., by a band of Mavite. Dr. Livingstone killed the most forward of the attacking party, but was surrounded and cut down by one blow of a battle-ax, which cut half through his neck. Beyond this we have no details, but those who returned were the first to flee. Almost all those who stood near Dr. Livingstone were killed, although they seem to have done considerable with their rifles.—This happened about six weeks ago, or about Oct. 25. You see how very meagre our information is. Even with a personal knowledge of the lakes of the surrounding country, at least a short distance from the scene of this sad affair, and a knowledge of that very tribe of Zatus, called Mavite, Agite, Maozites, &c., &c., it has been quite impossible for me, as yet, to elicit anything from the impenetrable simplicity of the few who have returned, as to where this tragedy took place. That it was to the west of the Nyassa is certain; but whether in the districts we have already explored or further to the north is still uncertain.

"That Dr. Livingstone was killed by the same Mavite as he and I were among together, is certain. They would have attacked us then if they had dared, but we were too strong for them. With such enemies it comes to be a question of numbers as well as equipment. The death of a few will not break their charge; and a small party, taken unawares, has no chance.

"Only one of the survivors saw Dr. Livingstone fall, but they buried his body at 3 P. M. when the Mavite had gone. They took off all the baggage and also the upper clothing of the dead body, so that not even a note remains by which to trace the route.

"It is hardly probable that any further particulars will ever be obtained in regard to Dr. Livingstone's death, as the Mavite are a wandering people, and it will be quite impossible to ascertain the particular tribe by whom Dr. Livingstone's party were attacked."

I have the honor to be, sir, very respectfully, your obedient servant,

EDWARD D. ROPES,
United States Consul.

Hon. W. H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

AN INCIDENT OF THE BOMBARDMENT OF FORT FISHER.—A person who was in Fort Fisher during the bombardment tells the following story in an English magazine:

Oh! the agony of despair to see ball and shell falling harmless from those turrets of iron, or rolling like pellets along the low decks, whilst the gallant defenders of Fort Fisher were falling in sheaves within a fortification which would, four short years before, have defied the efforts of any navy—"a work," as Porter says, "stronger than anything Sebastopol could boast of." One day a happy shot from the fort succeeded in finding its way into a weak spot of a two turreted monitor; a piece of iron evidently was turned up, and jammed the turret.—Hurrah! one at last disabled, thought the poor Confederates. By Jove! see two sailors quietly walk out, and set themselves down, the one holding a chisel, the other striking with a hammer. They were cutting away the obstruction; and so secure was the monitor against any vital injury being inflicted on her, that, although silenced, she would not retire from her position. A swarm of Southern riflemen were thrown out to slay the two bold federals; but no one hit them, and they worked on calmly, until Gen. Whiting generously interfered, and said, "Such gallant fellows deserve to live; cease firing, my lads, at them." So the iron was cut away.

"Hould on!" said Patrick, as he stood looking after the departed train, motioning it to stop. "Hould on, ye murthering old stame ingin; yees got a passenger aboard that's lift behind!"

SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 30, 1867.

ELECTIONEERING FURORE.

The present is certainly no time for promoting political excitement among the Southern people. Nothing can be gained or secured, at the present time, by the formation of parties. There is no room for any differences of opinion as to the principles involved. The Congress has specifically laid down the charter or platform, by which we are to be governed. To this we must all come, whatever may be our differences of opinion as to principles:—Universal suffrage to the colored race, the disfranchisement of those specified in the law, the adoption of such a Constitution as meets the approbation of Congress, the adoption of the constitutional amendment by the Legislature, the election of only such men to offices of any kind, as are admissible by the reconstruction acts, and, finally, the election to Congress of men only who can take the Congressional test oath. No man can vote or hold office who cannot take the following oath:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear (or affirm) in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——, that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the County of —— or Parish of —— in said State, as the case may be; that I am twenty-one years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, nor held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; and that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States; and will, to the best of my ability, encourage all others to do so—so help me God."

The above principles and conditions are prescribed by the Congress as terms of restoration and conciliation. Thus every thing required by the law, or by the Congress, is plainly laid down. We are not left to choose in any of the above matters. They are not only conditions, but laws, which must be obeyed.

It is, therefore, the plain duty of every man not disfranchised to embrace an early opportunity, after the Commanding General makes his arrangements, and issues his orders, to register his name as a voter. Most serious consequences may grow out of the neglect of this, to those who now have the right to vote.

Differences, therefore, in this State, will be mainly confined to men. Not what we are to vote for, but whom we are to vote for, to carry out punctiliously the Congressional platform. This, then, is the chief point to which we are to look, after we have registered our names as voters:—Loyal men, and good and true men alone, who look to the quiet and peace and prosperity of all our people, white and colored, and to the early restoration of the State. This course need provoke no furor. These duties call for no electioneering apparatus—no exciting campaigns—no bitterness or vindictiveness towards any. The pecuniary condition of the people demands quiet, promptness and close attention to business,—the making a crop, upon which life itself depends, may be seriously interfered with by electioneering excitements.

Oh! Dr. Powell.—Dr. Powell, of Washington City, had a seat in the late "Reconstruction meeting." The Dr. has been in the habit of attending the sessions of Congress, knows how things are conducted in that august body, and has evidently profited by what he has seen and heard. The Dr. arose in the Convention aforesaid, and, remarking, in the language of the official report, "that he would take occasion to express his sentiments," forthwith proceeded to let off some rhetorical fireworks, "thusly":

"The loyalists in some portions of this State are called "Holdenites," as a term of opprobium. Sir, I had rather be called a Holdenite one hundred times than a traitor once. (Cheers.) I had rather be called a Republican one thousand times than a traitor once. (Cheers.) I had rather be called a Radical ten thousand times than a traitor once! [Cheers.] Sir, I had rather be called Holdenite, a Republican and a Radical one hundred thousand times than a traitor once!"

We wonder who has been calling the Dr. a "traitor." This is a mistake. The Dr. is not a traitor.

The Dr. evidently meant to say something complimentary to Mr. Holden in the above, but he was unhappy in the effort. According to his own mathematics, he had rather be called a "Radical ten thousand times than a traitor once," while he had only rather be called a Holdenite "one hundred times" than a traitor once. In other words, Radical is just 100 times a better designation than Holdenite. This is unkind, considering the good Dr. was Provisional State Agent. It is like spurning the hand that fed him.

THE FARMING INTERESTS.

The season, so far, has been unusually unpropitious for the necessary preparation for the future crop. The present indications are that the season now will be favorable. We hope, therefore, our people will shake off the discouragements under which they have labored, both from the weather as well as the gloominess of the political sky, and go to work, with the purpose of making a good crop. All prognostications, we believe, will augur a good crop year from the seasons we have had, the past winter, and we see no reason to doubt that Providence will bless the labors of the husbandman.

While our planters will look no doubt to cotton and tobacco, as the chief market crops, there is every indication that those who devote much attention to the production of breadstuffs and articles of food, will be as largely rewarded.

BALTIMORE AND SOUTHERN TRADE.

We have no disposition to make invidious discriminations against any class of our fellow-citizens, yet there are reasons, growing out of our relations with men, and reasons of interest, which prompt us to prefer one people above another. In our depressed and poverty-stricken condition, no people, North of the Potomac, manifested for us so soon, or continue to manifest, so much substantial sympathy, as the people of Baltimore. In this the Baltimore merchants have stood prominent. Such conduct demands a full return from our Southern merchants. Have they rendered it? Have the Baltimore merchants received as large a share of the trade of North Carolina merchants as they deserve? We hope that it is not too late to call the attention of our merchants to this matter.

Apart from the sympathy which ought to exist between us, the Baltimore merchants and markets will not suffer in comparison with any. In the first place, in point of high moral and business standing, they are the equals of any in the country. They are generally men of large capital, of high commercial integrity, and as accommodating and as indulgent as is best for seller or buyer. Their stocks are large, and, perhaps, more select, than you will generally find, and are sold on as good terms. A North Carolina merchant, who has just returned from that city, assures us that he has never succeeded better any where than he has done in Baltimore, in his recent spring purchases.

As a grocery market, every one knows, Baltimore is not surpassed. And we can say, from experience, that every species of goods, manufactured in or near that city, are equal to any in faithfulness and workmanship we have ever seen. Were we a merchant, the largest share of our purchases would be made in Baltimore.

"Treason planned to change the ruler, but not to destroy the Government, has always been treated as less culpable than an attempt to change the Government. An old writer says, "amongst our ancestors treachery against the country was death and forfeiture of all estate, both real and personal. Against the king it was only loss of life and personal estate."

The above is the closing sentence of Mr. Thad. Stevens' speech on confiscation, and has as little truth and aptness, in its application to the South, as the bulk of that medley of unstatesman-like views and principles. Now the "treason" of the South is more nearly analogous, if, indeed, it can apply to either, to treason against the king, than that against the government.—The object of the South was to escape, if possible, from under the dominion of New England rule, rather than to change the government. The South had no hostility to the government, only as it was administered on the modern New England theories. Hence, when they essayed to form a government of their own, they formed one identical with the old one. Its "treason," if treason at all, was opposition to the manner in which it was or would be administered, and not to the government itself.

Who are chargeable with a real change or destruction of the government? Against whom is the charge well-founded, of destroying the old government and making a new one, but Mr. Stevens himself, and his co-adjutors?

JAMES D. MCCABE, JR.—This gentleman publishes a long letter in the Petersburg Index, in vindication of his "so-called" history of Gen. Lee and his campaigns, and in reply to the pungent strictures of that journal upon its inaccuracies and partiality. We would remark, by the way, that Mr. Cameron, of the Index, deserves the thanks of North Carolinians for the promptness with which he protested against the reflections of Mr. McCabe upon the conduct of Pettigrew's Division, and we take this occasion to assure him that his friendly zeal is highly appreciated.

Mr. McCabe, in the letter referred to, disclaims the slightest intention to intimate aught against the approved gallantry of the North Carolina troops, but insists, nevertheless, upon his version of the charge at Gettysburg, as being founded upon the best data at his command. Two correspondents of this paper, who participated in that great charge, have already successfully shown the unreliability of his information and the consequent worthlessness of his book, as history. We have received an additional article, on the same subject, from a gallant friend in Anson, but, as the object for which he writes has been, we think, fully accomplished, we deem it hardly necessary now to give it a place in our columns.

The nomination of Major General Frank Blair as Minister to Austria will probably not be confirmed. There are two classes of rebels who would not give Blair any position. They are Confederate rebels and Republican rebels. He has fought both, has done a great deal of damage to both, and is equally obnoxious to both.—Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune is mistaken in one respect.—The Southern people have no feeling of enmity towards those Federal soldiers, however much they may have injured them, in legitimate warfare, during the struggle, who, since its close, have exhibited, as has done Gen. Blair, a charitable and magnanimous spirit. They have, on the contrary, a high appreciation of such men, and will gladly see them advanced. It is only towards such as are still waging a cowardly war against a defenceless people, who gloat over the memory of such things, and would invite their repetition, that the Southern people entertain feelings of unkindness or dislike. Such men deserve detestation—and they have it! No generous, high-toned, chivalrous soldier will trample upon the feelings of a conquered foe!

A colored man was, on Monday, admitted to register as a freedman by the Republican board of registers of Meriden, Connecticut, and was declared entitled to vote. There is great excitement in consequence.—Exchange.

Of course. It is awful that a "freedman" should be allowed to vote in a Northern State. That sort of thing can only be tolerated in "Districts."

STATE ITEMS.

——The Government is engaged in taking up and re-burying all the dead East of Goldsboro', near Newbern, in a field set apart for that purpose. On Thursday, some eighty odd, taken up from the battle-field just below the city, passed through Newbern en route for their destination.

——We learn from the Journal of Commerce that the residence of Samuel Ellis, in Jones County, near the Trent, was entered a few evening ago, by a number of men, and despoiled of provisions, money and everything transportable, which seemed to strike the fancy of the depredators. Mr. Ellis was sitting at the fire with his family at the time of the entrance of the robbers, and had no intimation of their approach until two musket muzzles were placed against his head.

——The new Criminal Court of Craven is still in session, and quite a number of minor cases have been disposed of. A capital case or two is to come before the Court. Judge Green is highly commended for his efficiency and ability.

——The Greensboro' Patriot says that, on Sunday evening last, about 7 o'clock, the body of D. W. Elliott was found near the depot of the N. C. Railroad, life being nearly extinct. He was taken into the new depot building, and medical assistance rendered, but he expired in a few moments after being removed. A short while before being found, he was seen walking in the direction of the railroad, and it is supposed he fell from exhaustion, his face falling in a pool of water causing strangulation. The deceased was naturally endowed with a talent for painting, in which profession, had he applied himself, he would have excelled.

——A United States Commissioner's Court was held in Winston, last week, by J. P. Vest, Esq. U. S. Commissioner. The Salem Observer says that William H. Miller and Joel Hauser, charged with selling spirituous liquors without license, were bound over in the sum of three hundred dollars for their appearance at the Circuit Court, to be held in this city on the first Monday in June.

The same paper says that Samuel Orrel, Leonard G. Hilton, and David Wagoner, of Davie County, charged with having conspired to prevent the execution of the laws of the United States, in certain cases, were also bound over in the sum of five hundred dollars each. These are probably the same parties alluded to in the following extract from the Winston Sentinel:

"It appeared that an extreme loyalist of Davie County had failed to pay his United States license for the privilege of distilling, and had also failed to pay the revenue on the quantity distilled, and after due notification by the U. S. Collector, his property was distrained and advertised for sale. On the day appointed for sale, the Deputy Collector was informed by the crowd who had collected that the property should not be sold or removed from the premises. As most of the crowd were armed and drinking, the officer thought it prudent to desist. Some of the crowd were arrested and brought here for trial, and were bound over to appear at the next term of the Federal Court. It is a great pity that all the defendants were "Heroes of America," as it spoils a nice sensation story of outrage, that would have been duly chronicled by the Standard and other papers of that ilk, as evidence of the rebellious spirit of District No. 2."

——The Goldsboro' News says that, on Wednesday night last, about 8 o'clock, four of the U. S. soldiers stationed at that place went to the house of Mr. Blount King, when one of them broke a pane of glass in the room in which Mr. King and family had retired to bed.

Mr. King immediately jumped from his bed, and drew the curtain aside, when he was confronted with the muzzle of a pistol protruding into his apartment, which he seized with one hand, but let loose, when it was thrust through another pane and fired off, the ball taking effect on Mr. King, striking the sternum, or breast bone, and glancing down. Mr. King then took his own pistol, and went out, and recognizing the assailant, dealt him a blow over the head with the pistol, which caused the pistol to fire. Just at this stage of the affair, three other soldiers made their appearance, and the four took Mr. King in his night clothes, without shoes, and spirited him to the military guard house, and reported that he, King, had shot one of their number.

The facts being ascertained by the officer in charge, Mr. King was delivered over to our citizens, and taken back to his own home, where he now lies, suffering considerably, but, we trust, his wound is not dangerous.

——CRIME IN ORANGE.—The Hillsboro Recorder seems to think that our former mode of punishing thieves does not much restrain them. It would seem not. The Recorder says:

"Among recent occurrences of this kind are the following:

First, the Post Office was broken into, and some twenty dollars in stamps, envelopes and money stolen. Next, Judge Ruffin's premises were entered, a barrel of flour rolled out and its contents carried off. Same night, Mr. Henry K. Nash's smoke house was robbed of several pieces of meat.

On Saturday night, the 9th instant, the office of our county court clerk was entered by means of a false key, the safe taken out and carried to the blacksmith shop near the river, the lock broken by the use of gunpowder, and between four and five thousand dollars in Confederate money and State Treasury notes, and thirty cents in specie, abstracted. Several valuable papers were in the safe, but they were not much disturbed.

On Thursday night last, Mr. Lemuel Lynch's Jewelry shop was entered, and several watches, a parcel of finger rings and other jewelry carried off, amounting to between $150 and $200. The entrance was first attempted through the window; but failing in that, the brick of the chimney was torn away, and an entrance was effected through the fire place.

On the next night, Friday, the smoke house of Yancey Mebane, six miles West of the town, was broken into and his meat stolen. And on Saturday night, a horse was stolen from the stable of Rev. Daniel W. Thompson, four miles from town."

WHAT an unfortunate thing for the Radicals that the riot on St. Patrick's day in New York had not occurred in Memphis, New Orleans, or some other Southern city! We imagine the Radicals would not much regret the occurrence of a riot at this time in some of the Southern States. It would be a perfect God-send to them in their desperate struggle in Connecticut.—Nat. Int.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOLDENITE MEETING.

COMPILED FROM THE STANDARD EXTRA.

THURSDAY, March 28, 1867.

The President called the Convention to order at 10 o'clock.

Prayer by Rev. Mr. Hood, of Cumberland County.

Mr. Settle, of Rockingham, the chairman of the committee on resolutions, reported a series, which were read from the Clerk's desk.

The resolutions were discussed at length by Messrs. Settle, Dick, Coleman, Dr. Powell, Goodloe, Sinclair, Taylor, Odom, J. H. Harris, Carter, J. W. Hood, Thomas, Robinson, and Col. Heaton. They were adopted as follows:

"Having assembled in the City of Raleigh on the 27th of March, 1867, in conformity with a timely and patriotic call, reflecting the sentiments of the loyal men of the State, and believing the time is at hand when an open and fearless expression of sentiment, opinion, and purpose is urgently demanded; therefore

1. Resolved, That in view of our present political condition, our relations to the National Government and the people of all sections of the country, we do this day, with proud satisfaction, unfurl the brilliant and glorious banner of THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, and earnestly appeal to every true and patriotic man in the State to rally to its support.

The splendid and patriotic record made by this great political organization, in standing by the general Government with an inflexible resolution, in carrying forward profound measures of statesmanship to a successful issue, and the powerful aid given by it in finally overthrowing and prostrating the most gigantic rebellion of ancient or modern times, should command the respect and challenge the admiration of every candid man.

2. Resolved, That the American Congress is eminently entitled to the profound thanks of the whole country for its perseverying, persistent and heroic devotion to the great principles of human rights as enunciated in the Declaration of Independence; that in the name of the patriotic people of this State we feel warranted in cordially assenting to and accepting the reconstruction plan recently and finally adopted by that body, and to the end that peace and order may be permanently secured and every industrial pursuit resumed and encouraged, we pledge ourselves to use every fair and legitimate means to influence public sentiment to the nearest possible approach to unanimity on this subject.

3. Resolved, That we rejoice that the dogma long propagated, of the right of peaceable secession under the Constitution, has been forever overthrown by the majestic uprising of the American people, in crushing out the late rebellion by force of arms; and that the doctrine that the supremacy of the general government has been established, and that the paramount allegiance of the citizen has been acknowledged as due to the United States.

4. Resolved, That we sincerely exult in the fact that as a nation we are now absolutely a nation of freemen, and that the sun in all its course over our wide spread country no longer shines upon the brow of a slave.—Without reservation, we heartily endorse the great measures of civil rights and impartial enfranchisement, without any property qualification, conferred without distinction of color, and that we are ready to unite in the early practical attainment of these inestimable privileges. Although the mortal remains of Abraham Lincoln now rest silently beneath the soil of his adopted State, yet his voice still rings like a clarion through the land, earnestly summoning every American citizen to the support of the great party of liberty and emancipation.

5. Resolved, That as the most potent and efficient means by which the South can speedily regain her lost prosperity, we earnestly advocate the spreading of knowledge and education among all men, and that to the attainment of this great end, we demand, and shall persistently and firmly insist upon, the absolute right of free discussion and free speech on all subjects of public interest.

5. Resolved, That we join in an earnest wish for the maintenance untarnished and undimmed of the public credit and plighted faith of the nation.

7. Resolved, That in the maintenance of the position taken and the principles this day avowed, we earnestly invite the influence and co-operation of men of all political persuasions, who regard and cordially support the recent action of Congress as a solution of our present political difficulties; that we deprecate partizan violence and desire peace and good will toward all men, and if in an open and fearless effort, which we propose to make on every suitable occasion, to persuade and convince the people, that our highest duty and truest interest is to be subserved by maintaining the principles of the Republican party, an earnest interest should be awakened, it will be from no other cause than a rigid adherence to what we regard as a sacred right and a solemn public duty."

The President was then requested to send a dispatch to Gov. Hawley, of Connecticut, announcing the organization of the Republican party of North Carolina.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. J. E. O'Hara, of Wayne, and adopted:

Resolved, That this Convention render their sincere thanks to Jas. H. Harris for the zealous and efficient manner in which he has labored at the North for the cause of all loyal men in North Carolina and for her speedy return to the Union.

Mr. W. F. Henderson, of Davidson, offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Convention are due and are hereby tendered to the Spartan band of Republicans in the late legislature of this State, for their bold and fearless defence of Congress and the Union.

Mr. Settle offered the following which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we esteem ourselves fortunate, in that so experienced and accomplished a statesman and soldier as Maj. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles has been appointed to the command of this military district. We tender to him our hearty co-operation as loyal citizens in the performance of the important duties that have been devolved upon him.

Resolved, That we are gratified to learn that Gen. John C. Robinson has been assigned to the command of this State, under Gen. Sickles. His former administration of military affairs in this State has been such as to give us a most favorable opinion of his peculiar fitness for the position thus assigned him.

Mr. Carter introduced the following, which was also adopted:

Resolved, That the President of this Convention appoint an Executive Committee of forty members to promote the organization and interests of the national Republican Party of North Carolina, and that the resident members of said committee in each Congressional District be authorized to appoint such committees in every county of the State.

Mr. Dockery offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the members of this Convention hereby pledge themselves to use every legitimate means in their power to disseminate correct information among the people of their respective counties.

On motion of Mr. Thomas, it was

Resolved, That the North Carolina Standard be requested to publish the proceedings of this Convention, and that other Republican Journals be requested to copy.

The following resolution was offered by a colored delegate and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we tender a vote of thanks to the President of this Convention, and the assistant officers, for the dignified and efficient manner in which they have discharged their duties.

Whereupon the meeting adjourned.

A. H. JONES, President.

THE POWER OF CONGRESS.

We took occasion, a few days ago, in referring to the apparent transmutation of the government, to say that the Nation was now being governed wholly by Congress backed by the popular will, and that if no reaction should take place our written Constitution would soon give way to an unwritten Constitution,—that the popular will would hereafter be expressed through the several Departments of the Government and not through any particular written Constitution made for their Government. Such a Constitution is that of England, and such a Constitution might possibly afford us an excellent government in this Country, though we confess to a veneration for the written Constitution of our fathers and to a strong desire for its preservation. Yet we think it but just that same rule in legislation should be applied by Congress to Northern States that has been applied to the Southern States. We were therefore glad to see Mr. Wilson introduce his bill in the United States Senate to regulate the elective franchise in all the States. If the Northern people sustain the bill it will become the law of the land; otherwise it will not—for the popular will is to be the future test.—Old North State.

THE RECONSTRUCTION BILL—LETTER OF SENATOR SHERMAN.

The following letter was addressed to Colonel W. R. De Graffenreid, of Macon, Georgia:

UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER,
WASHINGTON, March 12, 1867.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 8th instant is received. The bill you referred to was passed in the earnest hope that it would tend to the full restoration of all the States to all their rights in the Union. The sixth section I think too harsh, but it was put in the House as the result of opposition from both extremes. At the request of large numbers from the South, we are passing a supplementary act to provide machinery of reconstruction. The original bill left all this to each State, but there was danger of double organizations and conventions, and, therefore, to avoid further strife or difference, this new act will be passed. It is merely a scaffolding.

My earnest conviction is, that the South should not forego this opportunity to be restored to representation; and you may rely upon it, that a majority in both Houses will adhere to this offer, and execute it in good faith and to the letter, if your people will do likewise. Neither section can be prosperous while the present condition of military surveillance prevails. You can do as you please with this. Very truly yours,

JOHN SHERMAN.

[From the Macon [Ga.] Journal and Messenger, March 22.]

REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.—During the past six months, and particularly during the time that Congress has been occupied in the discussion of the various proposed measures for the rehabilitation of the Southern States, a pall of darkness has hung over the people which it has been all but impossible to penetrate. As long as there was hope that Congress might not resort to extreme measures in their acts of reconstruction, all the energies of the people were, as it were, absorbed in expectation and inaction. But now the worst has come, all doubts have been dissolved, and there is no excuse for any more repining, or for not laying our hands to, with all our might, the business before us.

Now, however, business seems to wear a brighter face, and hope is in the ascendant that prosperity will revive, and the present be a year of profits sufficient to countervail the balance of losses.

TWO YEARS AGO.—In 1865 Mr. Sumner, who is now dissatisfied with the military rule existing over the Southern States, on the ground that it is too lenient, offered in Congress a series of resolutions, of which the following is one:

And be it further resolved, That a government founded on military power, or having its origin in military orders, cannot be a "republican form of government," according to the requirement of the Constitution: and that its recognition will be contrary, not only to the Constitution, but also to that essential principle of our Government which, in the language of Jefferson, establishes "the supremacy of the civil over the military authority."

GEN. SICKLES.—The Old North State, alluding to Gen. Sickles' order, says of him:

"We happen to have the honor of his acquaintance, having met him repeatedly during a recent visit to Washington, and we are satisfied from our personal knowledge of him that he will execute the law in such manner as to give general satisfaction. He exhibited much kindness to Southern gentlemen then in Washington, and spoke kindly of the Southern people. We bespeak for him the cordial co operation of our people in the execution of his trust, believing that if such co-operation is rendered they will have no cause to complain, but much cause for gratification."

At one of the colored churches in Mobile, the minister having finished his sermon, announced that a collection would be taken up for missionary purposes. The "sasser" was accordingly sent around. When it came back to the pulpit, the preacher proceeded to count the amount received, and among the fractional currency he discovered a ten dollar Confederate bill. He looked at it for some time with evident disgust, and then took a calm look at his congregation over the top of his spectacles. Then clapping the uncurrent bill upon the open Bible with indignant emphasis, he exclaimed:—"Brederin, I put dis bill right dar on de Bible, and let de Lord take care of dat man!"

THE CHARLESTON DIFFICULTY.—Charleston March 27.—Two of the negroes concerned in the attack on street cars yesterday were arrested to-day and fined. They said they were incited to the misconduct and were partly intoxicated. All is quiet to-day.

FERTILIZERS

FOR SPRING CROPS.

WE beg to inform the trade and planters of North Carolina and Virginia, that we are prepared to furnish them with the most approved FERTILIZERS, on the most accommodating terms. We will have a stock of genuine PERUVIAN GUANO, purchased direct from the Agent of the Peruvian Government.

We have now in store, for immediate delivery 325 tons BRADLEY'S SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME, which won for itself such an enviable reputation in the Cotton and Tobacco counties of North Carolina and Virginia, last season, proving itself equal, and in many important respects, superior to the Peruvian Guano. We give an analysis of it as ascertained by Dr. Hayes, one of the most eminent Chemists in the country:

Results of Analyses Made of Bradley's Patent Super-Phosphate of Lime, as now sold by Wm. L. Bradley.

100 PARTS CONSIST OF

Moisture	5.50
Prepared animal matter, salts of Ammonia, fatty substances and Humus	38.50
Bone Phosphates of Lime, Magnesia and Iron	38.80
(Soluble Phosphates of do. 16 6-10.)
Sulphate of Lime	16.50
Salts	20
Insoluble	2.60
	99.90

The animal matter afforded 4 2-10 parts of Ammonia when it was decomposed, and, as will be seen, nearly one-half of the Bone Phosphate is soluble.

After many analyses of your Super-Phosphate of Lime, made during the last few months, I have found your standard of quality full equal to that of any you have ever sold in former years; and I am satisfied that you include the correct principles in the manufacture. Respectfully,

A. A. HAYES, M. D., State Assayer.

THE SENTINEL.

SATURDAY EVENING, MARCH 30, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

TO ADVERTISERS.—The public will find the Sentinel one of the best mediums of advertising in the State. Its circulation covers a larger area, perhaps, than any other paper.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Mitchell, Allen, & Co., with true practical sagacity, keep their business well before the public. See advertisement.

Oliver Ditson & Co., Musical Publishers, Boston, call attention to recent publications.

J. Brown (with Hart & Lewis,) announces fresh importations of Hardware, Cutlery, &c.

The Trustees of St. John's College, Oxford, will sell that property on the 7th of May. This affords an excellent opportunity for investment. The property is highly valuable, and Oxford is one of the most delightful towns in the South.

THALIAN ASSOCIATION.—The second performance of this Association will take place at Cooke's Hotel, on Monday evening. The first one is represented to have been an agreeable entertainment, and this will prove more so. Very good talent is brought into requisition, and the evening will doubtless be made to pass off very pleasantly.

FIELD & FIRESIDE BOOKSTORE.—We learn that Alfred Williams, Esq., and Mr. C. W. Lambeth, of this City, have purchased the stock of the Field and Fireside Bookstore, and will hereafter carrry on the business at the old stand. We wish them success.

DIRECT TRADE.—We invite attention to the announcement of the sailing of the Persian, from the port of Norfolk, for Liverpool direct, on the 12th prox. Mr. A. M. McPheeters is Agent for the line in this City, and will give all necessary information connected with it to applicants.

We are gratified to learn that the steamer Bosphorus, of the same line, cleared on Thursday, with a full cargo, —3,000 bales of cotton, corn, tobacco, &c. This enterprise deserves encouragement at the hands of our farmers and merchants, not only because it promises ultimate development to our Southern products, but because it promises, immediately, a saving of money to exporters.

LIFE INSURANCE.—From a circular now before us, we learn that W. H. Crow, of this City, the indefatigable Agent of the Ætna Life Insurance Co., has insured in the last fourteen months, in this State, 499 persons, in amounts varying from $1,500 to $20,000.

WE ARE glad to see that the new and commodious Bank building, purchased by the National Bank of Raleigh, is being rapidly completed. We presume that it will be ready for occupancy by the 1st of June.

THE SPRING TERM of Wake Superior Court commences on Monday. His Honor, Judge Barnes, will preside.

WE RETURN our acknowledgements to our young friend, A. N. McKimmon, for the latest Northern papers. Mr. McK. has just returned, after having purchased, in the Northern cities, an attractive stock of goods.

"JUSTICE" sends a severe criticism upon the Act of the Legislature for the relief of Executors, Administrators, &c. He has failed to give us his name, which bars his article. All correspondents, to ensure a hearing, must give us their names.

VERY PROBABLE.—The Richmond Times expresses the belief that "if there is a class at the South universally despised and contemned by all honest Northern men, it is the so-called Southern Loyalists."

GEN. SICKLES' ORDER.

The following order from Headquarters, which we have just seen, it will be seen, returns Brevet Maj. Gen. J. C. Robinson to this station, and to his duties as District Commander:

"Gen. D. E. Sickles, Commander of the 2d District, has issued the following order, dated Charleston, S. C., March 20th, 1867:

The undersigned hereby resumes his duties as Department Commander.

Brevet Major Gen. J. C. Robinson will return to his station at Raleigh, N. C., and resume his duties as District Commander.

Brevet Capt. J. Clous, 1st Lieut. 6th Infantry, having joined from detached service, will resume his duties as Acting Assistant Adjutant General of this Department, relieving Brevet Major John R. Myrick, 1st Lieut. 3d Artillery, from the operation of General Orders. D. E. SICKLES,

Maj. General Commanding."

The rumor that Congress having prohibited gold lace to our ministers abroad, is about to legislate upon the size of the chignons of the wives of our diplomatic representatives, is incorrect. Neither Mr. Sumner nor Mr. Stevens have any intention of introducing an act entitled an act to provide against waterfalls.—New York Gazette.

THE RADICALS IN MARYLAND—REVOLUTION THREATENED.

At the Radical State Convention in Baltimore, on Wednesday, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we will oppose any new Convention set up in subversion of the existing Constitution under the Convention bill, which does not express the will of the majority of the people, without regard to color; and that we will, with the aid of the loyal representatives of the nation, and by all means in our power, resist and destroy any such Constitution as a revolutionary usurpation.

Resolved, That we will take no part in the approaching election for delegates to a constitutional Convention, further than to recommend a general vote by the Republicans of the State against the call for a Convention, and to use every lawful means in their power to defeat the call.

Resolved, That, should the call be sustained by a majority of the voters, the State Central Committee, on ascertaining that result, shall issue a call for district meetings, to be held in every election district in the State, for the choice, by ballot, on the basis of universal manhood suffrage, of delegates to a State constitutional Convention—each county and the city of Baltimore to elect the number to which they may be entitled under the present Constitution of the State.

Resolved, That the said State constitutional Convention, if called, shall assemble in the city of Baltimore on the first Wednesday in June, and proceed to form a Constitution based upon universal manhood suffrage.

The resolutions were adopted amid great cheering.

A telegram was received from General Schenck, strongly expressive of the painful interest Congress is feeling in the progress of the political affairs of Maryland, and directing the Convention to go into the contest if there are but two of them.

Archibald Stirling, Jr., made a speech, after the adoption of the resolutions, in which he denounced the Legislature for what he termed their revolutionary acts, and said to his hearers that if it was necessary they would call on the military power of the Government to protect all who are loyal in the right to vote, without regard to color.

Other speeches of like import were delivered, after which the Convention adjourned.

The committee was appointed to confer with Congress.

"Rule or ruin" is evidently the motto of the Radicals.

GERRIT SMITH ON THE SITUATION.

Gerrit Smith, under date "Peterboro', March 20, 1867," to William Lloyd Garrison, gives his views on the situation. His motto is "universal suffrage" and "no punishment" for the South. This is the sum and substance of his epistle to Garrison, which has a great deal of amiable and humane sentiment in it. He contends that if Congress proceeds further with its interference with the domestic affairs of the South, "State governments will soon have disappeared." He blames both the North and the South for the war. With regard to slavery, he charges that the North was as intent "as was the South to make every variety of gain from slavery—especially political and ecclesiastical. Of commercial gains from it she had more than the South. In this respect, it is emphatically true that the South held the cow and the North milked her."

With regard to the charge of treason against the South, the venerable Gerrit has this to say: "There is not one enlightened friend of human rights—not one real democrat—in all Europe, who would have the crime of treason recognized in a war which divides a nation into two great parts. A proper deference to the vast numbers engaged on each side, and to their conscious, and more or less, real rectitude, forbids such recognition. Sympathy with the human brotherhood forbids it. Respect for man forbids it."

He is decidedly opposed to the longer imprisonment of Mr. Davis. He most naively inquires: "Does the North feel that, in the continued imprisonment of Mr. Davis, or in some no less significant way, she must maintain a monument of her abhorrence of the war?—then why does she not, in order to make the monument more faithful to history, confine along with Mr. Davis some representative of the guilty North—say, some old pro slavery Democrat like General Butler or Thomas Seymour?"—Richmond Dispatch.

ONE STEP FORWARD.—Senator Wilson has taken one step toward rescuing the country from further disgrace, by his resolution concerning the trial of Jefferson Davis. It is now very nearly two years since he was captured and consigned to prison, not under any process of law, but by military authority. Meantime the war has ended, the armies are disbanded, and Davis still remains in prison. He has never been arraigned for trial, either before a civil or military tribunal. He is not held under any authority known to the law of the land. No charges are on record against him, and no effectual steps have been taken to bring him to trial. Every now and then Congress denounces the President for not hanging him—the President explains that he has no power or authority even to try him, and the Chief Justice declines to meddle with the matter at all until the condition of Virginia is more to his mind. Meantime Davis lies in prison, and nobody is responsible for it, or has the power, apparently, either to put him on trial or set him free. This state of things would be a disgrace to the worst days of the worst despotism of Europe. Startling stories used to be told of victims of Austrian tyranny being left to rot in the dungeons of Spielburg—until even their names and existence had been forgotten. Our government, by its treatment of the only conspicuous State prisoner they have had, seems likely to relieve the reputation of foreign despotism from the unshared obloquy under which it has rested so long. We agree with the Massachusetts Senator, that Davis should either be put upon his trial or set at liberty.—N. Y. Times, (Radical.)

DUEL.

NEW ORLEANS, March 29.

A duel was fought, this morning, between the manager of the National Theatre and the editor of the German Gazette. The latter was probably fatally shot, on the third fire. The weapons used were revolvers. The cause of the duel was an actress.

The Fall Session of this Institution closed 22rd. day of December. The Spring Session opened the 1st. Wednesday in January, and will continue 20 weeks.

The success of this school has been without a parallel. A new building has just been completed, by which a large additional number can be accommodated. We are determined to make our pupils as comfortable as they can be made anywhere, and to afford them all the advantage for a thorough and extensive education, that can be found at any First class Female College, North or South.

The location is a most delightful one. The Mineral Water is too well known to the whole country to need a remark. Even invalid young ladies may secure a thorough education, and at the same time the restoration of their health. Reference is made to every intelligent Physician in the State, as well as to the hundreds who have found relief here.

The young ladies all worship in the College Chapel, and hence no extra clothing is required. In the single item of dress parents can save 25 per cent. of the entire expense incurred by sending to Boarding Schools located in cities or villages.—This Institution is certainly one of the cheapest and most easy of access in the Southern States. Besides, it offers the most superior advantages in every respect.

SUNDAY READING.

"PULL IT UP BY THE ROOT."

"Father, here is a dock," said Thomas, as he was at work with his father in the garden; "shall I cut it off close to the root?"

"No," replied his father, "that will not do; I have cut it up myself many times, but it grows again stronger than ever. Pull it up by the root, for nothing else will kill it."

Thomas pulled and pulled again at the dock, but the root was very deep in the ground, and he could not stir it from its place; so he asked his father to come and help him, and his father went and soon pulled it up.

"This dock-root, Thomas," said his father, "which is an evil and a fast growing weed in a garden, puts me in mind of the evil things that grow so fast in the hearts of children. A bad passion, even when found out, is hard to be removed. It is of no use to trifle with it; there is no other way to overcome and destroy it, but to pull it up by the root."

"You have often seen in our garden, Thomas, that when the weeds are allowed to grow, they spoil all the plants and flowers that grow near them. So it is with evil passions in the heart of a child. If a little boy is ill-tempered, we must not expect to find him in good humor, cheerfulness, thankfulness, and a desire to make others happy. And a little girl who is idle, we need not expect to see her industrious, neat or careful. As weeds injure the flowers, so bad passions will injure good qualities. If a child is undutiful to his parents, and despises the commandments of God, we might as well look for a rose or a tulip in a bed of nettles as to hope to find in his heart those graces and good desires that we love to see growing there. Now this is quite a sufficient reason why all passions should be pulled up by the root. Every bad habit, every evil passion, which troubles you, you should try with all your heart to overcome; you should, if possible, tear it up. But you find your own strength but weakness, and you must apply to that Almighty Friend, who alone is able to strengthen you and assist you. He can take from your heart the love of sin; and this is the only sure way of destroying it, as we have the dock, by pulling it up by the root."

THE SERVICE OF JOY.

How can we make our religion a free and willing service? This can be done by the growth of the divine life in the soul. In the earlier days of religious experience we pray from a sense of duty instead of a real love of prayer. We obey God through the hope of reward or the fear of punishment. Now this is not the highest phase of religion. The rich fruition of piety is gained when we love God from the free promptings of our hearts, just as a girl loves her mother. When thus seen, religion is truly holy and uplifting. It awakens a faith which, while it gives new interest to life, strengthens our confidence in immortality. It enables the tried and sorrowing cheerfully and bravely to endure and suffer; and when we enter the sick chamber, and stand by the bed of the dying, even in these dark periods, like an angel, religion smiles upon us as we smooth the pillow and close the eyelids.—As thus death hovers near she hails it as the messenger from the future world, and when the last earthly struggle is over she dispels the chill and darkness of the grave and throws over it the radiance of a celestial hope, while she bears the soul to the bosom of God.

When we have reached this higher phase of religion then its service is a free offering of the heart. It should be the aim of every true disciple to attain to this free obedience and love. Would we do this, we should make our homes a heaven, and this earth the paradise of God.—Christian Register.

THE DEATH-BED OF BISHOP SOULE.

At the funeral services of Bishop Joshua Soule, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which were observed at Nashville, on the 7th., a very impressive address was delivered by Bishop McTyeire, in which he gave an elaborate and eloquent sketch of the life of the eminent divine, closing with an account of his last moments. He said: "I was present at the hour he died, and saw the close of this grand Christian life—His work was done, and he waited with patience and peace. His death, in all its parts, was simple, grand, majestic. Death is a cloud, a shadow, a darkness; he saw it enter with a perfect composure. He said little in his last hours. On Saturday his situation became critical, but there was no trepidation, no uneasiness to be detected in his conversation; he was ready. When asked if he suffered much pain, he replied, "None at all." I said to him, "Bishop, is all clear before you?" "Yes," was his answer. "Do you understand me?" "I do, sir, I do." It was past midnight when he appeared to be passing away. I questioned him, "Bishop, is it all right with you?" With that peculiar emphasis characteristic of him, he replied, "All right, sir, all right." He was resting—leaning on Christ. He expired in perfect quietness; fell asleep without a groan or convulsion, and I could feel no grief or sorrow as I closed his eyes."

DR. PLUMER ON DESPONDENCY.—The Rev. Dr. Plumer, now President of Columbia (S. C.) Theological Seminary, in a recent letter to a Southern minister, makes the following remarks upon despondency:

"I am glad to find so general a persuasion that we ought not to yield to discouragement. Despondency never raised a crop, never made a scholar, never built up a Church. God has not called us to hopelessness and misery. Let us hope on, hope to the end. If we are feeble, the Lord is mighty. If we lack wisdom, let us ask of God, who giveth liberally and upbraideth not. If we are 'cast down,' let us thank God that we are 'not destroyed.' If we are 'perplexed,' let us be careful not to fall 'into despair.' In our case despondency is needless, sinful, and a great torment."

Congressional Reconstruction Acts.

For the information of our readers we republish as follows the late reconstruction act of Congress, known as the Stevens-Shellabarger bill. We shall add to it the Howard Amendment, Test Oath and the supplementary act, all of which will be kept standing until the necessary information they contain shall be generally and fully understood.

THE RECONSTRUCTION ACT.

AN ACT to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States.

[Passed over the President's Veto, March 2d, 1867.]

WHEREAS, no legal State governments or adequate protection for life or property now exists in the rebel States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Florida, Texas, and Arkansas; and whereas it is necessary that peace and good order should be enforced in said States until loyal and Republican State Governments can be legally established: Therefore,

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That said rebel States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States, as hereinafter prescribed, and for that purpose Virginia shall constitute the first district; North Carolina and South Carolina the second district; Georgia, Alabama and Florida the third district; Mississippi and Arkansas the fourth district; and Louisiana and Texas the fifth district.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the President to assign to the command of each of said districts an officer of the army, not below the rank of Brigadier general, and to detail a sufficient military force to enable such officer to perform his duties and enforce his authority within the district to which he is assigned.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of each officer assigned as aforesaid to protect all persons in their rights of person and property, to suppress insurrection, disorder and violence, and to punish or cause to be punished all disturbers of the public peace and criminals, and to this end he may allow local civil tribunals to take jurisdiction of and to try offenders, or, when in his judgement it may be necessary for the trial of offenders, he shall have power to organize military commissions or tribunals for that purpose, and all interference, under color of State authority, with the exercise of military authority under this act shall be null and void.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That all persons put under military arrest by virtue of this act shall be tried without unnecessary delay, and no cruel or unusual punishment shall be inflicted; and no sentence of any military commission or tribunal hereby authorized affecting the life or liberty of any person, shall be executed until it is approved by the officer in command of the district, and the laws and regulations for the government of the army shall not be affected by this act, except in so far as they conflict with its provisions. Provided, That no sentence of death, under the provisions of this act, shall be carried into effect without the approval of the President.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That when the people of any one of said rebel States shall have formed a constitution of government in conformity with the Constitution of the United States in all respects, framed by a convention of delegates elected by the male citizens of said State, twenty one years old and upwards, of whatever race, color or previous condition, who have been resident in said State for one year previous to the day of such election, except such as may be disfranchised for participation in the rebellion, or for felony at common law; and when such constitution shall provide that the elective franchise shall be enjoyed by all such persons as have the qualifications herein stated for electors of delegates; and when such constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such Constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the persons voting on the question of ratification, who are qualified as electors for delegates; and when such constitution shall have been submitted to Congress for examination and approval, and Congress shall have approved the same; and when the said State, by a vote of its legislature, elected under said constitution, shall have adopted the amendment to the constitution of the United States, proposed by the Thirty-ninth Congress, and known as article fourteen; and when said article shall have become a part of the constitution of the United States, said State shall be declared entitled to representation in Congress, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom, on their taking the oath prescribed by law; and then and thereafter the preceding sections of this act shall be inoperative in said State. Provided, That no person excluded from the privilege of holding office by said amendment to the constitution of the United States shall be eligible to election as a member of the convention to frame a constitution for any of said rebel States, nor shall any such person vote for members of such convention.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That until the people of said rebel States shall be by law admitted to representation in the Congress of the United States, any civil government which may exist therein shall be deemed provisional only, and in all respects subject to the paramount authority of the United States at any time to abolish, modify, control or supersede the same; and all elections to any office under such provisional governments all persons shall be entitled to vote and none others who are entitled to vote under the provisions of the fifth section of this act; and no person shall be eligible to any office under such provisional governments who would be disqualified from holding office under the provisions of the third article of said constitutional amendment.

SCHUYLER COLFAX,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
LAFAYETTE S. FOSTER,

The following is the Constitutional Amendment referred to in the 4th section of the Sherman Bill:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State being twenty-one years of age and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce by appropriate legislation the provisions of this article.

The following is the oath of office referred to in the 5th section of the bill, and also in the 6th of the Supplementary Bill:

An Act to Prescribe an Oath of Office and for Other Purposes.

Be it enacted, That hereafter any person elected or appointed to any office of honor or profit under the government of the United States, either in the civil, military or naval department of the public service, except the President of the United States, shall before entering upon the duties of such office, and before being entitled to any of the salary or other emolument thereof, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I, A B, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I have never voluntarily borne arms against the U. S. since I have been a citizen thereof; that I have voluntarily given no aid, countenance, counsel or encouragement to persons engaged in armed hostility thereto; that I have never sought nor accepted, nor attempted to exercise the functions of any office whatever, under any authority, or pretended authority, in hostility to the United States; that I have not yielded a voluntary support to any pretended government, power or constitution within the United States, hostile or inimical thereto; and I do further swear (or affirm) that to the best of my knowlege and ability, I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God," which oath, so taken and signed, shall be preserved among the files of the court, Houses of Congress, or the department to which said officer may appertain. And any person who may falsely take said oath shall be guilty of perjury, and on conviction, in addition to the penalties now prescribed for that offence, shall be deprived of his office, and rendered incapable, forever after, of holding any office or place under the United States.
